GREEK NATION IN MOURNING

Messages of Condolence and Sympathy to the Royal Family, Government and People Are Numerous—Emblems of Sorrow Are in Evidence Everywhere and Poor Seem Most Affected by Murder of King George.

Athens, March 20.—Constantine will take the oath as King of the Hellenes on Friday.

The hope is expressed that the king will be proclaimed as Constantine XII, the last Byzantine emperor having been Constantine XI.

The chamber of deputies will be summoned to take the oath of fealty to the new king, after which the ministry will resign.

Messages of condolence and sympathy to the royal family, the Greek government and the Greek nation poured into the capital.

The first message from the head of a nation received by Queen Olga came from President Wilson.

All Greece mourns the death of a sovereign who had done so much, particularly during the last year, to advance the prestige of the nation. Emblems of sorrow are displayed on all sides and manifestations of grief are even more marked among the poor than among those of the higher classes.

Premier Venizelos, after eulogizing King George for his great service during his long reign, asked the chamber of deputies to acclaim Constantine king, to which the deputies responded with cheers.

From the fortress of Janina, which he recently captured from the Turks, King Constantine addressed his first message to the Greek army. It was as follows:

Critical Moment for Nation.

"The outrage on the sacred person of King George deprives us of our leader at a moment very critical for the Hellenic nation. I am called by Providence to succeed my never to be forgotten father on the throne over which he so long shed luster and honor.

"I bring this news to the knowledge of my army, to which I have devoted my whole life and to which unsuccessful and successful wars have indissolubly bound me. I declare to it that, marching always at its head, I will never cease to concentrate my solicitude on my land and sea forces, whose glorious exploits have brought renown to our fatherland."

Queen Olga, accompanied by several members of the royal family, is now on her way to Saloniki. She suffered greatly from the shock of the announcement of the king's death, but before her departure showed that resolution which had actuated her early in the war in going to the field to care for the wounded.

The chamber of deputies determined to go into mourning for six months and a proposal to erect a national monument in honor of the dead king was voted by acclamation.

The body of the king will be brought to Athens and interred in the mausoleum which he had constructed on one of the hills at Tatoi, where he was accustomed to spend the summers.

SCHINAS HAD NO ACCESSORY

Assassin Not Mad, but Weak Minded. Once University Professor.

Saloniki, March 20.—Aleko Schinas, the assassin of King George, is still held in close confinement. At various periods he was forced to undergo an examination, but without eliciting any facts to show that other persons were implicated in the crime.

Schinas is not a madman, but apparently is weak minded. He lived by begging and three weeks ago came to Saloniki by way of Athens.

He appeared to have led a wretched existence, subsisting almost entirely on milk. His family has long ceased to acknowledge him.

Schinas for a time was an instructor in the medical department of the University of Athens. He refuses to give any explanation for the crime, beyond the fact that two years ago he applied for assistance at the palace and was driven away by an aide.

DANES MOURN SLAIN KING

All Naval Officers Don Crepe for Two Weeks.

Copenhagen, March 20.—The Danish kingdom began a period of eight weeks mourning for King George of Greece. The officers and men of the navy will wear mourning crepe for a fortnight. On the day of the funeral mourning salutes will be fired from all the Danish warships and fortresses.

The genuineness of the national grief in the assassination of King George is evidenced by the mourning aspect of this city. Flags on the buildings and on the vessels in the harbor were at half mast and many people donned black.

DISASTER AT MEDICINE HAT

While Firemen and Citizens of Canadian Town Are Fighting Blaze in an Unoccupied Building a Gas Explosion Demolishes Structure—Rescuers Believe There Are More Bodies in the Ruins.

Medicine Hat, Alta., March 20.—Five or more were killed and a dozen injured when the Malcolm cannery blew up during a fire. Firemen, assisted by citizens, are digging in the ruins for others who may be dead or hurt.

The dead are: J. Brier, gas inspector; William Stewart, painter and volunteer fireman; John Rimmer, fireman; Harry Green, boy onlooker; an unidentified man.

The bodies of Stewart, Brier and Green have been taken from the ruins. Fully 1,000 persons are searching for the others.

The disaster was caused by a leakage of gas. A small fire had started in the three-story building and many citizens followed the firemen to the scene. As the size of the blaze increased a number entered the structure to help extinguish it. Without warning there occurred a terrific explosion. Those on the outside saw the building collapse.

A few moments later the cries of the dying and injured stirred the onlookers to action. They soon determined that from forty to seventy-five were imprisoned in the ruins. Many near the edge managed to extricate themselves without assistance. They were only slightly hurt. In a short time men with picks and shovels had released others, including three of the dead. The injured were rushed to the local hospital.

The Malcolm cannery building was unoccupied.

FEARS COSTLY LITIGATION

Attorney General Comments on Distance Tariff Act.

St. Paul, March 20.—"If the Cashman bill is signed by the governor and becomes law the legislature ought to give me at least $50,000 to use in litigation," said Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith when asked for his opinion on the effect of the distance tariff bill on the pending rate cases.

Mr. Smith said he did not think the passage of the bill would affect the decision in the 2-cent fare and commodity rate cases, as they have been submitted to the court, while the Cashman bill does not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1914.

"But if the state wins in those cases and the schedule of rates in litigation is sustained," said Mr. Smith, "the Cashman bill will compel the railroad and warehouse commission to make a new schedule of rates and we will have to try the rate cases all over again."

ROOSEVELT WEDDING APRIL 4

After Ceremony Several Hundred Guests Will Attend Breakfast.

New York, March 20.—The wedding on April 4 of Miss Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt, to Dr. Richard Derby will take place in the Episcopal church in Oyster Bay and will be followed by a breakfast for several hundred guests at Sagamore Hill. It was announced. Roger A. Derby, Dr. Derby's brother, will be best man. Archie Roosevelt, a brother of the bride, and Nelson F. Bossert of Boston will be among the ushers. The bridal couple will sail for Europe after the wedding.

General J. H. Kidd Dead.

Ionia, Mich., March 20.—General J. H. Kidd, Civil war veteran and Indian fighter, died at his home here after a long illness. He was born in 1840. He succeeded General Custer in command of the Sixth Michigan Cavalry in the Civil war, at the close of which he was brevetted brigadier general of volunteers.

TO PRESERVE INDIAN SONGS

Secretary Lane Appoints Composer to Study and Arrange Them.

Washington, March 20.—To preserve and develop the wonderful music of the American Indian, now fast disappearing with the passing of the race, Secretary of the Interior Lane appointed Geoffrey O'Hara, a composer, as an instructor in music under the bureau of Indian affairs. It will be Mr. O'Hara's duty to record native Indian music and arrange it for use in the Indian schools.

He is to live on the reservations with the Indians and obtain a record of the music and, with this as a basis, cultivate the use of the Indian songs in the schools.

KING OF NEWSBOYS FREED

Charge of Complicity in Rosenthal Murder Dismissed.

New York, March 20.—The indictment against Jack Sullivan, king of the newsboys, charging him with complicity in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the squealing gambler, was dismissed for lack of evidence. This disposes of the last of the indictments found against the seven alleged murderers.

Five men—Charles Becker, Lefty Louie, Gyp the Blood, Dago Frank and Whitey Lewis—are in the death house at Sing Sing pending the outcome of their appeals. William Shapiro, driver of the gray murder car, the sixth man indicted, turned state's evidence and gained his freedom.

As Sullivan left the Tombs he was rearrested on an indictment charging him with bribery. This was found by the grand jury investigating police graft.

INSANE MONTANAN
CREATES SENSATION

Cowboy Opens Fire in Mayor's Office at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 20.—Joseph Stefanski, a cowboy from Geyser, Mont., apparently demented, threw the city hall into a panic when he entered the mayor's office and opened fire with a revolver on the clerks and a policeman on duty there. Charles E. Lang, the policeman, who grappled with the man, was shot four times, but probably will recover.

Stefanski called at the office asking for Mayor Fuhrmann or his secretary. Addressing Charles Egloff, license clerk, he asked for the mayor. Egloff told him the mayor was out.

"Well, I want $100," Stefanski said. Egloff tried to parley with the man, while Lang, who had overheard the demand for money, walked toward him. The sight of the officer apparently alarmed Stefanski, who stepped back and drew a revolver, yelling: "I'll get that hundred or know the reason why."

Lang closed with Stefanski, but was unable to seize the revolver. Stefanski fired five shots, four of which lodged in Lang's neck and shoulder. The fifth, aimed at Egloff, went wild.

TO PROBE POSTAL SERVICE

Burleson Orders Inquiry Into Working Conditions.

Washington, March 20.—A special commission to inquire into the actual financial, physical and working conditions throughout the postal service was created by Postmaster General Burleson. It was announced that there have been many conflicting reports as to the general conditions of the department and that Mr. Burleson decided to have a special investigation to get the facts.

The commission is composed of Daniel C. Roper, Joseph Stewart, A. M. Dockery and James I. Blackless, first, second, third and fourth assistant postmasters general, respectively, and Merritt O. Chance, chief clerk of the department.

CLAIM TURKS WERE ROUTED

Bulgarian Reports of Fighting at Tchatalja.

Sofia, March 20.—Bulgarian reports of the fighting at Tchatalja give a somewhat different account than that issued at Constantinople. According to the Bulgarians the Turks on Tuesday last essayed a forward movement, but the attempt, which caused them a considerable loss, was a failure.

About five divisions of infantry, artillery and cavalry, supported by warships, were checked by Bulgarian detachments, which had been pushed forward. Toward evening the troops on the right Bulgarian flank attacked the divisions on the left of the Turkish flank and put them to flight. Two divisions of Turks were isolated, but escaped during the night.

WILSON GAINS
MANY FRIENDSTries Not to Offend, but Sticks
to His Rules.

HIS POLICY BRINGS ESTEEM

New President Restricts Time to Be Taken by Personal Friends and Gives Complete Attention to His Work—Asserts He Has Much to Learn and Must Keep at Top Speed.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 20.—[Special.]—Two weeks of Woodrow Wilson have made a great difference in the esteem in which he is held. The new president has improved on acquaintance. He has had no disposition to offend any person nor to do anything that is not in keeping with what he believes to be for the best interest of the government. He does believe that he should conscientiously give all his time to the work and that he should not deviate from this rule, save in exceptional cases and, of course, in order to take the necessary exercise for his health.

"I am trying to learn what I am to do," he told some visitors a few days since. "I am new here and must learn a great deal. There is much to do, many demands upon my time, and I know that it may seem ungracious that I cannot give more attention to true and loyal friends, but I must first of all attend to the duties which the great office imposes upon me."

And those who want to get to him in order to present claims for office must go to the cabinet officers and give the president their note.

"Original Wilson Men."

It was a rather curious idea put forth by certain politicians that only "original Wilson men" should be considered in the giving out of appointments. If that idea had been proclaimed before election it would have made a great difference in the Wilson vote. Suppose only "original Wilson men" had stood by at the polls. Where would the Democrats have been? Wilson and his supporters quickly decided not to recognize factions in making appointments.

Keeps His Own Counsel.

I have often said that William J. Bryan was a very secretive person. In all the years he has been in politics no man has had authority to say what he will do or to speak for him. Hundreds—yes, several hundreds—visited him in 1908 before the Denver convention, and to none did he tell anything. He did not tell them what he was going to put in the platform; he did not give them a hint as to his choice for vice president. He tells people things only when he gets ready.

When he became secretary of state a lot of newspaper men rushed up with the idea that Bryan's good fellowship meant turning the state department wide open and giving all the foreign secrets publicly. But what a revelation! Bryan was found to be the most secretive secretary that has held the place in the memory of the oldest inhabitant of Newspaper row. He kept them waiting for hours, and when he did see them he told them he would say nothing until action was completed. And that was no good for the newspaper men, who want to discuss foreign complications as they develop.

Crane Won Garrett.

Senator Crane of Massachusetts and Congressman Garrett of Tennessee served together on the inauguration committee. "I got an entirely different impression of Crane after knowing him," said Garrett. "He is affable, intelligent and a most likable man. He is different from what I had first imagined." A great many people who did not know Crane had an idea that he was nothing but a bad old millionaire.

"Coming Back"

Related "swan songs" of men who were defeated last fall for congress announce that they are "coming back" next year. It looks as if quite a number of them would make good on their boasts, for they were defeated by narrow margins in an exceptional year.

Where Weeks Lost.

When a man who is in congress has served in the army or navy or is a graduate of one of the service academies it is generally customary to give him a place on the committee which deals with the service from which he came. Senator Weeks of Massachusetts has not been fortunate enough to land a committee on that basis.

He is a graduate of the Naval academy, but when he entered the house he found Ernest Roberts a member of naval affairs from Massachusetts, and he could not have the place. Now he finds Senator Lodge on naval affairs in the senate and fails to get the place. Weeks is probably the only graduate of the Naval academy who has been in the senate in a quarter of a century.

First Time in Four Years.

Tales of the exclusiveness of Frank Hitchcock as postmaster general are now retold, especially since the affable Burleson sees everybody who comes along. "Albert," said a Republican member of the house, "I am mighty glad to see you here. By George, it is good to get into this room! I haven't been inside in four years, and you are the first postmaster general I have seen. I could never get this far before."

Pretty Patient.

"What objects in human form are the most patient?"
"Why, statues, of course."

H. H. KOHLSAAT IS IMPROVING

Will Be Able to Return to Chicago in Two Weeks.

New York, March 20.—H. H. Kohlsaat, the Chicago publisher, who was stricken here Saturday after seeing his wife off on a trip to Europe, was reported much better.

An examination revealed that he had suffered a slight hemorrhage of the left side of the brain. He has been improving steadily since.

Perfect rest has been prescribed for him and this is all that is necessary, it was stated, to restore him. The members of his family have been notified that there is no necessity for their coming from Chicago and in two weeks' time it is expected he will be in condition to travel to that city.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN
BEG FOR TREATMENT

Mob of Four Hundred Surrounds Dr. Friedmann.

New York, March 20.—Four hundred women and children hemmed in the automobile of Dr. Friedrich F. Friedmann begging him to treat them for tuberculosis. The crowd surrounded the German physician outside the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases and a squad of police reserves had to be called to make a path for him to the hospital door. Physicians from all parts of the United States gathered at Mount Sinai hospital to watch Dr. Friedmann administer his vaccine, but were refused admittance. The only other medical men at the clinic were three representatives of the government, at whose request other physicians were excluded.

The hospital authorities explained that the government physicians feared that premature reports of the clinic would be made before they presented their official report to the government.

Sixteen patients were treated at Mount Sinai hospital. After the demonstration Dr. John F. Anderson, one of the government physicians, left for Washington where, it is said, Surgeon General Blue of the United States public health and marine hospital service will issue a bulletin regarding the Friedmann vaccine and results of its use on patients here.

TEXTILE CONDITIONS BAD

New York State Labor Bureau Issues Report.

Albany, N. Y., March 20.—The report of the state labor department on its investigation of conditions among the Little Falls textile workers—brought to public attention by the recent strike—was made public.

"Certainly it is a matter of grave public concern," the report says, "when a considerable body of wage earners are found in such living conditions as are revealed by this report. There is reason to suppose that more or less similar conditions are to be found elsewhere."

The investigators state that prior to the strike half of the men workers received a weekly wage of $9 or less, while half of the women received less than $7.50.

"The settlement of the strike," the report adds, "made but little, if any change from conditions as to wages."

General Bacon Is Dead.

Portland, Ore., March 20.—General Bacon, who was commander of the department of Dakota at the time of the Indian uprising at Leech Lake reservation in 1898, died here. In the battle of Sugar point at that time Major Wilkinson and several privates of the Third regiment were killed.

BANKERS QUIT CHINESE LOAN

Action Follows Conference of Financiers Interested.

New York, March 20.—As a result of a statement by President Wilson that his administration would not request the American bankers here interested in the six-power loan to China to continue to seek their share the three banking houses in the so called American group announced their entire withdrawal from the negotiations. The announcement followed a conference of the banking interests concerned at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co.

PRISON FOR AUTO BANDITS

Webb and Burke Plead Guilty and Are Sentenced.

Chicago, March 20.—Robert Webb and Thomas Burke, two leaders of the automobile bandits in this city during the winter, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and were sentenced to prison under the indeterminate sentence law, which imposes a minimum of one year and a maximum of twenty-one years.

Webb will be tried later on a charge of murdering Detective Peter Hart, whom he is alleged to have shot while evading arrest.

Plants That Hate One Another.

Fancy two plants being so unfriendly that the mere neighborhood of one is death to the other. Yet this is the case with two well known English plants. These are the thistle and the rape. If a field is infested with thistles which come up year after year and ruin the crops, all you have to do is to sow it with rape. The thistle will be absolutely annihilated.

ATTELL DEFEATS KIRK.

New York, March 20.—Abe Attell, former featherweight champion, knocked out Ollie Kirk of St. Louis in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here.

A terrific left hook to Kirk's chin sent the Westerner staggering to the ropes and a right to the jaw an instant later floored him for nine seconds. Kirk regained his feet in time to suffer further punishment before Referee Sammy Kelly stepped in and stopped the bout.

President Wilson Will Aid in Revising Tariff.

STAND OR FALL ON MERITS

Chief Executive Intends Making Himself as Accessible as Possible to Members of Congress on Days When Tariff Legislation Shall Have Reached Its Most Important Development.

Washington, March 20.—President Wilson will confer frequently with members of the house and senate in the president's room at the Capitol during the extra session of congress. This was announced at the White House.

The president intends to make himself as accessible as possible to members of congress on those days when tariff legislation will have reached its most important development. He found, while governor of New Jersey, that legislation was often expedited by his close communication with the New Jersey legislature. He made it a practice to be in his own office whenever the legislature was in session, day or night, and gave precedence in his engagements to the legislators.

The president will go to the Capitol, it was said at the White House, in a spirit of friendly co-operation, there to consult with Democrats and Republicans alike on the progress of legislation. He believes, however, that he should go to the Capitol as party leader. He has always said that the president of the United States was the elected leader of his party and that he particularly was charged by the people with the carrying out of party pledges. Mr. Wilson believes the tariff bill should be treated as a party measure.

The announcement that the finance committee of the senate and the ways and means committee of the house will work on the tariff bill in joint conference, consulting the president often, is in line with his idea that the Democratic leaders in congress should draft a tariff bill which should stand or fall on its merits, both in congress and before the country. He believes in enforcing party discipline and after the leaders have approved the tariff bill he will make every effort to procure its passage in both houses without material alteration.

BEFORE BILLS REACH HOUSE

Democrats Expect to Be in Accord on the Tariff.

Washington, March 20.—The house, the senate and the president came together informally for the first time, on the "preliminaries" of tariff revision. A short conference between the president and Senator Simmons of the senate finance committee, followed by a longer conference between a subcommittee of the house ways and means committee, laid the groundwork for a series of three cornered conferences that are to follow before the tariff revision bills are presented to the house in April.

As a result of the discussions it was said by Mr. Underwood and Senator Simmons that the two houses of congress practically will be agreed upon the details of tariff revision before the bills reach the house and that the opinions and desires of President Wilson also will have been fully considered.

FLOOD OF BILLS IN HOUSE

Last Day for Introduction Results in Deluge.

St. Paul, March 20.—One hundred and eight bills were introduced in the house, the last day bills may be introduced except by a two-thirds vote. Bills pertaining to every subject from a proposed constitutional convention to referendums on supreme court decisions, poured into the house hopper. The house bills now total 1,158.

The senate passed the bill by the subcommittee of the finance committee repealing all laws providing for standing appropriations. This is one of the reforms advocated by the finance committee in a hope of cutting out waste in state departments. With standing appropriations abolished each department must come each session to the legislature and explain just what it wants to do with the money it asks for.

MAY HANDLE CENSUS.

Washington, March 20.—It became known that W. J. Harris, chairman of the Democratic state committee of Georgia, probably would be chosen director of the census. It also was stated authoritatively at the White House that the nomination of Charles P. Nell to be commissioner of labor statistics, which failed of confirmation at the special session of the senate, would be sent to the senate again when congress convenes on April 7.

CO-ORDINATION AND SUPERVISION

Of Work of Other Departments is Business of Mayor Under St. Paul's New Charter

MAYOR HAS LITTLE PATRONAGE

Members of Council Assigned by Mayor as Administrative Heads of Various Departments

J. W. Bennett, engaged by St. Paul to put into effect its new commission form of government, in this article describes the duties of the mayor under the new charter taking effect April 1.

Co-ordination and supervision of the work of other departments is the business of the mayor under the new St. Paul charter. He is not given much patronage. The only important officer appointed is the purchasing agent.

Members of the council are assigned by the mayor as administrative heads of the various departments. He has six men to fit to six places, and may so assign them as to get the best results. Since he is made responsible for co-ordination of the administrative work, and is given sufficient authority to have it co-ordinated, it goes without saying that for his own protection he is likely to assign the men so as to get the best results. Like the builder, working with given materials, he is likely to produce the best possible building. As a sane man he will do so if he values his reputation.

A reassignment of the administrative heads may be made on a given day six months after they are inaugurated. This opportunity is given the mayor so that he may correct errors of judgment made in the first assignment. This is the only opportunity he has to make the change. He is limited so that there may be a sense of security on the part of the department heads.

The mayor presides at all meetings of the council, so that he is in full touch with the legislative business of the city. Something more than legislative business in its strict sense is transacted by the council at the daily meetings. By resolution the important business supervised by the council is acted upon. This will keep the mayor in complete touch with the administrative side. As chief administrative officer he is in the best sort of position to keep the administrative machinery running to the best advantage. He is not burdened by the administrative details of a department.

Power is given the mayor to bring charges against any elective officer, and the council must, if the mayor presses it, bring the officer to trial. It is the duty of the mayor to call the attention of a department head to any shortcomings of a subordinate, and to suggest a course of action. If the department head does not act, the mayor may act, even removing the appointive officer.

Since the mayor must put himself on record as to the reasons for removing the offending appointee, and since he has no power to name a successor, this power of the mayor is not likely to be abused.

The mayor is a member of the sinking fund committee, so that he has a voice in investments of city funds. He has the appointment of the joint committee which has charge of the courthouse and city hall building, and takes a hand in the election of the county assessor.

Power is given the mayor to investigate departments upon his own initiative. He is required to advise the council as to needed legislation. In fact the mayor becomes a sort of general manager, looking after the interests of the city as a whole, seeing that other officers do their duty, seeing that the administration is kept going. He has means of knowing all that is going on, and has a ready weapon in public opinion if there are any laggards in the administration. By hampering any department, he merely hampers his administration and tends to discredit himself. He will get a good share of the credit

TAYLOR NARRATES HIS EXPERIENCES

Brainerd Mining Man, Nephew of P. W. Donovan, Tells of Exciting Venezuelan Trip

SHOT AN INDIAN ASSAILANT

Letter Dated El Guayabo, Venezuela Said Bjorge and Taylor were Feeling Well

In a letter dated El Guayabo, Venezuela, February 26, William Leslie Taylor writes his uncle, P. W. Donovan of this city.

"Received mail yesterday, in it mother's letter in which she said she feared on account of the Indians, now that we were getting into the foothills.

"Monday morning the guide, one man, Guy Bjorge and I left camp as usual at 7:30 and started on a trail west on a two day trip to the river Tarra. The men had been working on a trail and had it cut about 4 kilos, from camp. When they got to the end of it they left our packs containing blankets, grub, etc., and began cutting ahead.

"Guy and I worked along behind them looking for outcrops. I got to the packs first as Guy was feeling sort of under the weather. I built a fire and started down a dry canyon looking for water.

"I had gone about 200 yards when I saw ahead of me a large heap of monkeys on the ground, some dead, and what first attracted my attention was one not quite dead, waving an arm in the air.

"Naturally I began to take notice for monkeys do not die without some good cause, and about this time I saw ahead of me five Indians at a water hole in the canyon. They were about 60 feet away and saw me before I had a chance to hide, and immediately began shooting at me; but they had only bows and arrows so I had a bit of advantage and made good use of my heels. However they soon got closer than was comfortable and when an arrow lifted my hat, I began using my Colt. I shot the nearest one—about 15 feet away, and the others stopped long enough—don't know whether I had hit them or not—to enable me to get to the packs where I had left the Winchester.

"I began yelling for Guy and for Adolph and Manuel who were cutting the trail ahead unarmed, as I was afraid the rest of the band might get them. When the first Indians saw our fire and heard the yelling, they evidently thought there were a number of men in the vicinity and being much afraid of guns, especially repeaters, they stopped.

"Needless to say we didn't waste any time getting to camp where we grabbed our maps, notes, etc., and beat it for town. We had to sleep (?) in the woods Monday night and arrived here February 25 at 10:30, safe and sound. I am going to Encourados to send cablegrams today, but no more Indian country for either of us. We are both well and thankful that we escaped so well.

"Tomorrow an armed party will go in to get the rest of our stuff, if the Indians have not already gotten it. Will write full particulars as soon as I hear from New York.

POLITICAL POT STARTS TO BOIL

Socialists Hold Their Referendum Vote on Wednesday Evening—Rumors on Results

R. A. HENNING MAY BE MAYOR

Republicans had Primaries for Election of Delegates to City Convention Last Night

Owing to the fact that so many candidates propose to run independently and are circulating petitions, the republicans held primaries in but two wards, the first and third, at least these are the only wards which can be located at this time. The city convention is scheduled for this evening.

The delegates to the convention as nominated in the first ward were Fred Drexler, C. O. Hagberg and G. H. Gardner.

L. M. Dupue, it is said, is an independent candidate for mayor.

C. A. Lagerquist, present alderman from the first ward, has filed with the city clerk his petition. Anton Mahlum, candidate for alderman of the First ward, has also filed his petition.

The socialists will hold their caucus this evening and city convention on Friday evening. The referendum vote was taken last night and nothing can be authoritatively announced. What is given here is mere rumor to the effect that the following were nominated:

Mayor—Alderman R. A. Henning. Aldermen, first ward, William Schib, 2nd ward, Herman Weideman, 3rd ward, N. W. Betzold and Ernest Haake, 4th ward, Alderman A. L. Anderson and Frank Gallepe, 5th ward, John Gabiou and J. S. Robertson.

Assessor—Alderman N. W. Olson. Treasurer—Frank E. Little.

The members nominated for school board could not be ascertained. It is believed that the party will have no one on the ticket for municipal judge.

The Cause of Rheumatism

Stomach trouble, lazy liver and de-ranged kidneys are the cause of rheumatism. Get your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in healthy condition by taking Electric Bitters, and you will not be troubled with the pains of rheumatism. Charles B. Allen, a school principal, of Sylvania, Ga., who suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys, writes: "All remedies failed until I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Maybe your rheumatism pains come from stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Electric Bitters will give you prompt relief, 50c and $1.00. Recommended by H. P. Dunn.—Adv. tts

Tuneful Names of States.

There is no part of the world where nomenclature is so rich, poetical, humorous and picturesque as the United States. . . . The names of the states and territories themselves form a chorus of sweet and most romantic vocabularies—Delaware, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Dakota, Iowa, Wyoming, Minnesota and the Carolinas. There are few poems with a nobler music for the ear, a songful, tuneful land, and if the new Homer shall arise from the western continent his verses will be enriched, his pages sing spontaneously with the names of states and cities that would strike the fancy in a business circular.—London Chronicle.

Are You Constipated?

If so get a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, take them regularly and your trouble will quickly disappear. They will stimulate the liver, improve your digestion and get rid of all the poisons from your system. They will surely get you well again. 25c at H. P. Dunn's.—Adv. tts

IMPORTANT BILL PASSES

Amending Anti-Pass Law, Benefiting Railway and Shop Men Holding Municipal Office

Both houses of the legislature have recently passed the amendment to the anti-pass law as drawn up by Jay Henry Long for the committee of local machinists and others, allowing free pass privileges to railway and shop men who may hold municipal or school offices.

The amendment thus enables many Brainerd men to accept office who before did not wish to surrender their pass privileges in return for the honor of holding a city office like alderman or member of the school board.

COMMERCIAL CLUB STARTS CAMPAIGN

Deerwood Club Champions Cause of Waterworks and Sewers in Town and States Reasons

PRINTERS INK USED LIBERALLY

Hon. D. M. Neill, President Minnesota Federation Commercial Clubs Speaks March 25

Deerwood, Minn., March 20—"Waterworks and sewers for Deerwood!" is the slogan of the Deerwood Commercial club, which has started a campaign to have these improvements inaugurated and urges all citizens to vote for them at the special election to be held on Wednesday, March 26.

As stated in the preamble of the call to the citizens, the Commercial club voices this appeal: "We summon all men and women, all good, unselfish citizens interested in the village of Deerwood to stand by us in this movement. Make Deerwood the best town on the range. All voters should vote for waterworks and sewers."

Tuesday evening, March 25, Hon. D. M. Neill of Red Wing, president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs will address the citizens at Hilyar's hall. Mr. Neill will speak on "Community Development" and all are invited to hear him.

President of the Commercial Club R. Archibald says: "The existence and prosperity of any city depends upon the business that is done in it. The more business the more people, the more people the greater the city."

"Now we know from the experience of other villages and cities that conditions are liable to arise, when with a high wind in the day time, a fire starts to windward of the main part of the town and for the want of a hydrant and a hose or supply of water, half of the place and sometimes more goes up in smoke. If such a thing should happen in Deerwood, the business men would not rebuild here and if they built again it would probably be in Orelund or Crosby, where waterworks are or there is a prospect for them and we could not blame them.

"Are we a progressive community? We will never be up-to-date until we have both sewers and waterworks. If we can't have both at once let us at least have water. There is plenty of it in the world and it is a good thing and absolutely necessary. Paying interest on bonds is no such a bugbear as it might look to a man up a tree. I am paying at present what I consider a heavy tax, but am willing to pay a little more for the sake of having something doing."

Charles G. Osterlund, secretary of the Commercial club says: "A town is no bigger or better than its people. Look at the individuals, study them and you will know if there is anything the matter. When any public improvement is mentioned, do they consider it from a selfish standpoint or do they take a broad view of it?"

The man living in a community under the protection of its laws, accepting the privileges in a business and social way extended to him within its borders, and who lives for himself alone, whose principle in life is to take all and give little, who is blinded by the personal pronoun "I" and is so wrapped up in his own carcass that he will not lend himself to any public movement unless "I am benefited"—such a man is not a good citizen and is not fulfilling his obligation as a citizen. Such a man is a curse to a community and if there are many such men living in a town there is something the matter with that town. Citizens should take civic pride in this town; the secret of a town's success is the co-operation of its citizens—Everybody for the common good—"All for one and one for all."

Very often this principle is neglected and in its place grows the selfish motive. One man will not take a progressive step for fear it will help his neighbor a little more than it does himself. Another is going to vote against waterworks because "he has a well and that is good enough for him;" he "doesn't need waterworks;" he "don't care about the rest of the town, he is not 'his brother's keeper.'" Another says "those fellows down town can't fool me." Still another, "I am 62 years old and have got along fine without these things and don't want them now." "I don't see what good it's going to do me." If the people of our town talk like that, there is indeed something the matter with the town. It is a hard matter to convince such men

An Odd Argument.
Here is a knotty problem suggested by Sir Henry Goscoe in his autobiography. Two men argued as to whether oil or water is the lighter. The first man contended that the oil must be lighter, as it floats upon water. And then the unscientific man triumphed with the argument that oil must be the heavier because it keeps the water down.

Peru's Lost Golden Chain.
The most persistent treasure hunt carried on by the Peruvians has been that for the golden chain made by the Huayana Capac, which was long enough to be stretched all around the great square of Cuzco and was thrown into the lake of Urocos lest it should fall into the hands of the Spaniards. Everybody believes it to be still at the bottom of the lake, which is very deep.

BEST FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR AN ITCHING SCALP--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Danderine Destroys Dandruff and Stops Falling Hair at Once—Grows Hair, We Prove it
If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.
Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.
If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.
We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must see Knowlton's Danderine. It eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

HOW BIG DAM WAS BUILT IN JUNGLES

Four American Engineers on Project.

USE 300 NATIVE LABORERS

Odd Experiences Met in Construction Work Through Wild Country—Colombians Ape Clothes and Actions of Newcomers—Odd Labor Troubles Arise—Many Alligators Found.

Broadway, New York, looks good to four engineers who recently returned from the Colombian jungle, where they spent two years among a thousand laborers of all nations building a big concrete dam and power house in connection with a project to develop the mining wealth of the region. S. H. Gifford told the story of their experiences:

"Labor troubles? You don't know what they are until you tackle a job, as we did, of building a dam across San Juan creek, 375 miles from the Atlantic coast.
"There were fifty Americans on the job, and we put up a dam 85 feet high, 200 feet across the crest and containing 18,000 cubic feet of concrete. A similar job would have taken one year in the States, but it took two down there.

"To begin with, we had about 300 natives, but it was impossible to do anything with them. They never had seen a piece of machinery before, and every time we swung a derrick around they'd take fright and run half a mile, and it would take 'em half an hour to recover sufficiently to return to work.
"We finally educated them by bringing down laborers from the canal zone, who had been trained in American methods. These men we put in responsible positions, and as the natives were good imitators they soon 'caught on' to the American way, and things began to hum.

Natives Great Imitators.
"The natives carried their passion for imitation further, often with humorous results. For example, at first they wore very few clothes. After we had imported the men from the canal, all of them reasonably well clad and wearing shoes, every native on the job took to watching them closely. They soon found out that the invaders were getting more money, and they figured out a connection between wages and clothes.

"At once it became the ambition of every native to own a pair of shoes, and all of them promptly bought, traded for or stole a pair. Ostentatiously they would wear the shoes out to work so that their American bosses could see them, but when they arrived on the job they would take them off. They couldn't stand the pinch of civilization.
"Those natives were finished performers in the drinking line. They would drink anything they could get their hands on and would spend almost every cent of their pay envelope to get the stuff. Their favorite beverage was 'aguardiente,' which is mostly alcohol flavored with anise.
"And this particular brand of 'booze' had a very interesting effect on them, though an inconvenient one for a laborer's camp. As soon as they had had three drinks they would start out at once in search of those whom they disliked. They all carried machetes or revolvers, and I never knew a pay day to pass but what three or four of them were killed.

Big Alligators.
"One of the sights that impresses an American in penetrating into the interior of Colombia is the populous colony of alligators on the banks of the Magdalena river. They literally cover the sandbars. I counted 200 on one bar alone. Here and there along the river the natives have built little half moon shaped stockades into the water, made by driving stakes into the sand, where their women can come down to fetch water and bathe safely.
"It's so commonplace for people to be eaten up by alligators that no one thinks anything about it.
"There in the heart of Colombia, 375 miles from the Atlantic, is an immense area that is a wonderfully rich mining proposition. But it is not a poor man's country; it will take a lot of capital. Development must be on an immense scale. It is low grade placer mining, but the vast area of gold bearing 'dirt' will make it a paying proposition. For 300 years the district has been mined by the Spaniards by hand.
"The dam and power house which we built was in connection with the first large modern dredge in Colombia for gold dredging purposes.
"Colombia needs to reform some of her laws. She wants to open her country to foreigners more. The freight rates on the steamers up the Magdalena river are exorbitant, and, in addition, the Colombians levy a tax of $1 a ton for dredging the river—which is never dredged. Every piece of our stuff—derricks, cable ways, donkey engines and electrical equipment—was brought from the United States."

Delicately Put.
Joel Chandler Harris was at his desk one night when an old time reporter looked over and said:
"Joe, how do you spell 'graphic' with one 'f' or two?"
"Well," said the kindly Uncle Remus, who was too gentle to hurt even a common adjective, "if you are going to use any, Bill, I guess you might as well go the limit."

Maps as Banknotes.
I knew of a curious instance of the fertility of the East Indian native brain. A boy had attended school and been instructed to some extent in geography. Struck evidently by the similarity of a colored map to the banknotes widely circulated in Rhodesia, he cut out a portion of the former and obtained from a less sophisticated neighbor the sum of £1 in gold, explaining that he required the money in exchange for his "note." His obliging victim, thinking perhaps that the "note" seemed hardly up to sample, endeavored to re-exchange it with European. The result was, of course, disastrous to the perpetrator of the fraud.—Empire Review.

Brains.
"Using cubic centimeters as units," says Sir Ray Lancaster, "we find that a good average European human brain is of the bulk of 1,500 units. The gorilla has a slightly larger brain than the chimpanzee or the orang. One of good medium bulk measures 500 units or a third of that of the well developed European."

KING WILL TAKE
OATH ON FRIDAYConstantine Will Soon Ascend
Late Father's Throne.

GREEK NATION IN MOURNING

Messages of Condolence and Sympathy to the Royal Family, Government and People Are Numerous—Emblems of Sorrow Are in Evidence Everywhere and Poor Seem Most Affected by Murder of King George.

Athens, March 20.—Constantine will take the oath as King of the Hellenes on Friday.

The hope is expressed that the king will be proclaimed as Constantine XII, the last Byzantine emperor having been Constantine XI.

The chamber of deputies will be summoned to take the oath of fealty to the new king, after which the ministry will resign.

Messages of condolence and sympathy to the royal family, the Greek government and the Greek nation poured into the capital.

The first message from the head of a nation received by Queen Olga came from President Wilson.

All Greece mourns the death of a sovereign who had done so much, particularly during the last year, to advance the prestige of the nation. Emblems of sorrow are displayed on all sides and manifestations of grief are even more marked among the poor than among those of the higher classes.

Premier Venizelos, after eulogizing King George for his great service during his long reign, asked the chamber of deputies to acclaim Constantine king, to which the deputies responded with cheers.

From the fortress of Janina, which he recently captured from the Turks, King Constantine addressed his first message to the Greek army. It was as follows:

Critical Moment for Nation.
"The outrage on the sacred person of King George deprives us of our leader at a moment very critical for the Hellenic nation. I am called by Providence to succeed my never to be forgotten father on the throne over which he so long shed luster and honor.

"I bring this news to the knowledge of my army, to which I have devoted my whole life and to which unsuccessful and successful wars have indissolubly bound me. I declare to it that, marching always at its head, I will never cease to concentrate my solicitude on my land and sea forces, whose glorious exploits have brought renown to our fatherland."

Queen Olga, accompanied by several members of the royal family, is now on her way to Saloniki. She suffered greatly from the shock of the announcement of the king's death, but before her departure showed that resolution which had actuated her early in the war in going to the field to care for the wounded.

The chamber of deputies determined to go into mourning for six months and a proposal to erect a national monument in honor of the dead king was voted by acclamation.

The body of the king will be brought to Athens and interred in the mausoleum which he had constructed on one of the hills at Tatol, where he was accustomed to spend the summers.

SCHINAS HAD NO ACCESSORY

Assassin Not Mad, but Weak Minded.

Once University Professor.

Saloniki, March 20.—Aleko Schinas, the assassin of King George, is still held in close confinement. At various periods he was forced to undergo an examination, but without eliciting any facts to show that other persons were implicated in the crime.

Schinas is not a madman, but apparently is weak minded. He lived by begging and three weeks ago came to Saloniki by way of Athens.

He appeared to have led a wretched existence, subsisting almost entirely on milk. His family has long ceased to acknowledge him.

Schinas for a time was an instructor in the medical department of the University of Athens. He refuses to give any explanation for the crime, beyond the fact that two years ago he applied for assistance at the palace and was driven away by an aide.

DANES MOURN SLAIN KING

All Naval Officers Don Crepe for Two Weeks.

Copenhagen, March 20.—The Danish kingdom began a period of eight weeks mourning for King George of Greece. The officers and men of the navy will wear mourning crepe for a fortnight. On the day of the funeral mourning salutes will be fired from all the Danish warships and fortresses.

The genuineness of the national grief in the assassination of King George is evidenced by the mourning aspect of this city. Flags on the buildings and on the vessels in the harbor were at half mast and many people donned black.

KING OF NEWSBOYS FREED

Charge of Complicity in Rosenthal Murder Dismissed.

New York, March 20.—The indictment against Jack Sullivan, king of the newsboys, charging him with complicity in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the squealing gambler, was dismissed for lack of evidence. This disposes of the last of the indictments found against the seven alleged murderers.

Five men—Charles Becker, Lefty Louie, Gyp the Blood, Dago Frank and Whitey Lewis—are in the death house at Sing Sing pending the outcome of their appeals. William Shapiro, driver of the gray murder car, the sixth man indicted, turned state's evidence and gained his freedom.

As Sullivan left the Tombs he was rearrested on an indictment charging him with bribery. This was found by the grand jury investigating police graft.

INSANE MONTANAN
CREATES SENSATIONCowboy Opens Fire in Mayor's
Office at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 20.—Joseph Stefanski, a cowboy from Geyser, Mont., apparently demented, threw the city hall into a panic when he entered the mayor's office and opened fire with a revolver on the clerks and a policeman on duty there. Charles E. Lang, the policeman, who grappled with the man, was shot four times, but probably will recover.

Stefanski called at the office asking for Mayor Fuhrmann or his secretary. Addressing Charles Egloff, license clerk, he asked for the mayor. Egloff told him the mayor was out.

"Well, I want $100," Stefanski said. Egloff tried to parley with the man, while Lang, who had overheard the demand for money, walked toward him. The sight of the officer apparently alarmed Stefanski, who stopped back and drew a revolver, yelling: "I'll get that hundred or know the reason why."

Lang closed with Stefanski, but was unable to seize the revolver. Stefanski fired five shots, four of which lodged in Lang's neck and shoulder. The fifth, aimed at Egloff, went wild.

TO PROBE POSTAL SERVICE

Burleson Orders Inquiry Into Working Conditions.

Washington, March 20.—A special commission to inquire into the actual financial, physical and working conditions throughout the postal service was created by Postmaster General Burleson. It was announced that there have been many conflicting reports as to the general conditions of the department and that Mr. Burleson decided to have a special investigation to get the facts.

The commission is composed of Daniel C. Roper, Joseph Stewart, M. Dockery and James I. Blackale, first, second, third and fourth assistant postmasters general, respectively, and Merritt O. Chance, chief clerk of the department.

CLAIM TURKS WERE ROUTED

Bulgarian Reports of Fighting at Tchatalja.

Sofia, March 20.—Bulgarian reports of the fighting at Tchatalja give a somewhat different account than that issued at Constantinople. According to the Bulgarians the Turks on Tuesday last essayed a forward movement, but the attempt, which caused them a considerable loss, was a failure.

About five divisions of infantry, artillery and cavalry, supported by warships, were checked by Bulgarian detachments, which had been pushed forward. Toward evening the troops on the right Bulgarian flank attacked the divisions on the left of the Turkish flank and put them to flight. Two divisions of Turks were isolated, but escaped during the night.

WILSON GAINS
MANY FRIENDSTries Not to Offend, but Sticks
to His Rules.

HIS POLICY BRINGS ESTEEM

New President Restricts Time to Be Taken by Personal Friends and Gives Complete Attention to His Work—Asserts He Has Much to Learn and Must Keep at Top Speed.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 20.—[Special.]—Two weeks of Woodrow Wilson have made a great difference in the esteem in which he is held. The new president has improved on acquaintance. He has had no disposition to offend any person nor to do anything that is not in keeping with what he believes to be for the best interest of the government. He does believe that he should conscientiously give all his time to the work and that he should not deviate from this rule, save in exceptional cases and, of course, in order to take the necessary exercise for his health.

"I am trying to learn what I am to do," he told some visitors a few days since. "I am new here and must learn a great deal. There is much to do, many demands upon my time, and I know that it may seem ungracious that I cannot give more attention to true and loyal friends, but I must first of all attend to the duties which the great office imposes upon me."

And those who want to get to him in order to present claims for office must go to the cabinet officers and give the president more time.

"Original Wilson Men."

It was a rather curious idea put forth by certain politicians that only "original Wilson men" should be considered in the giving out of appointments. If that idea had been proclaimed before election it would have made a great difference in the Wilson vote. Suppose only "original Wilson men" had stood by at the polls. Where would the Democrats have been? Wilson and his supporters quickly decided not to recognize factions in making appointments.

Keeps His Own Counsel.

I have often said that William J. Bryan was a very secretive person. In all the years he has been in politics no man has had authority to say what he will do or to speak for him. Hundreds—yes, several hundreds—visited him in 1908 before the Denver convention, and to none did he tell anything. He did not tell them what he was going to put in the platform; he did not give them a hint as to his choice for vice president. He tells choice things only when he gets ready.

When he became secretary of state a lot of newspaper men rushed up with the idea that Bryan's good fellowship meant turning the state department wide open and giving all the foreign secrets publicly. But what a revelation! Bryan was found to be the most secretive secretary that has held the place in the memory of the oldest inhabitant of Newspaper row. He kept them waiting for hours, and when he did see them he told them he would say nothing until action was completed. And that was no good for the newspaper men, who want to discuss foreign complications as they develop.

Crane Won Garrett.
Senator Crane of Massachusetts and Congressman Garrett of Tennessee served together on the inauguration committee. "I got an entirely different impression of Crane after knowing him," said Garrett. "He is affable, intelligent and a most likable man. He is different from what I had first imagined." A great many people who did not know Crane had an idea that he was nothing but a bad old millionaire.

"Coming Back."
Belated "swan songs" of men who were defeated last fall for congress announce that they are "coming back" next year. It looks as if quite a number of them would make good on these boasts, for they were defeated by narrow margins in an exceptional year.

Where Weeks Lost.

When a man who is in congress has served in the army or navy or is a graduate of one of the service academies it is generally customary to give him a place on the committee which deals with the service from which he came. Senator Weeks of Massachusetts has a committee on that basis.

He is a graduate of the Naval academy, but when he entered the house he found Ernest Roberts a member of naval affairs from Massachusetts, and he could not have the place. Now he finds Senator Lodge on naval affairs in the senate and fails to get the place.

Weeks is probably the only graduate of the Naval academy who has been in the senate in a quarter of a century.

First Time in Four Years.

Tales of the exclusiveness of Frank Hitchcock as postmaster general are now retold, especially since the affable Burleson sees everybody who comes along. "Albert," said a Republican member of the house, "I am mighty glad to see you here. By George, it is good to get into this room! I haven't been inside in four years, and you are the first postmaster general I have seen. I could never get this far before."

Pretty Patient.

"What objects in human form are the most patient?"
"Why, statues, of course."

H. H. KOHLSAAT.

Chicago Publisher Will

H. H. KOHLSAAT IS IMPROVING

Will Be Able to Return to Chicago in Two Weeks.

New York, March 20.—H. H. Kohlsaat, the Chicago publisher, who was stricken here Saturday after seeing his wife off on a trip to Europe, was reported much better.

An examination revealed that he had suffered a slight hemorrhage of the left side of the brain. He has been improving steadily since.

Perfect rest has been prescribed for him and this is all that is necessary, it was stated, to restore him. The members of his family have been notified that there is no necessity for their coming from Chicago and in two weeks' time it is expected he will be in condition to travel to that city.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN
BEG FOR TREATMENTMob of Four Hundred Surrounds
Dr. Friedmann.

New York, March 20.—Four hundred women and children hemmed in the automobile of Dr. Friedrich F. Friedmann begging him to treat them for tuberculosis. The crowd surrounded the German physician outside the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases and a squad of police reserves had to be called to make a path for him to the hospital door.

Physicians from all parts of the United States gathered at Mount Sinai hospital to watch Dr. Friedmann administer his vaccine, but were refused admittance. The only other medical men at the clinic were three representatives of the government, at whose request other physicians were excluded.

The hospital authorities explained that the government physicians feared that premature reports of the clinic would be made before they presented their official report to the government.

Sixteen patients were treated at Mount Sinai hospital. After the demonstration Dr. John F. Anderson, one of the government physicians, left for Washington where, it is said, Surgeon General Blue of the United States public health and marine hospital service will issue a bulletin regarding the Friedmann vaccine and results of its use on patients here.

TEXTILE CONDITIONS BAD

New York State Labor Bureau Issues Report.

Albany, N. Y., March 20.—The report of the state labor department on its investigation of conditions among the Little Falls textile workers—brought to public attention by the recent strike—was made public.

"Certainly it is a matter of grave public concern," the report says, "when a considerable body of wage earners are found in such living conditions as are revealed by this report. There is reason to suppose that more or less similar conditions are to be found elsewhere."

The investigators state that prior to the strike half of the men workers received a weekly wage of $9 or less, while half of the women received less than $7.50.

"The settlement of the strike," the report adds, "made but little, if any change from conditions as to wages."

General Bacon Is Dead.

Portland, Ore., March 20.—General Bacon, who was commander of the department of Dakota at the time of the Indian uprising at Leech Lake reservation in 1898, died here. In the battle of Sugar point at that time Major Wilkinson and several privates of the Third regiment were killed.

The announcement followed a conference of the banking interests concerned at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Chicago, March 20.—Robert Webb and Thomas Burke, two leaders of the automobile bandits in this city during the winter, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and were sentenced to prison under the indeterminate sentence law, which imposes a minimum of one year and a maximum of twenty-one years.

Webb will be tried later on a charge of murdering Detective Peter Hart, whom he is alleged to have shot while evading arrest.

Plants That Hate One Another.
Fancy two plants being so unfriendly that the mere neighborhood of one is death to the other. Yet this is the case with two well known English plants. These are the thistle and the rape. If a field is infested with thistles which come up year after year and ruin the crops, all you have to do is to sow it with rape. The thistle will be absolutely annihilated.

ATTELL DEFEATS KIRK.

New York, March 20.—Abel Attell, former featherweight champion, knocked out Ollie Kirk of St. Louis in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here.

A terrific left hook to Kirk's chin sent the Westerner staggering to the ropes and a right to the jaw an instant later floored him for nine seconds. Kirk regained his feet in time to suffer further punishment before Referee Sammy Kelly stepped in and stopped the bout.

President Wilson Will Aid In Revising Tariff.

STAND OR FALL ON MERITS

Chief Executive Intends Making Himself as Accessible as Possible to Members of Congress on Days When Tariff Legislation Shall Have Reached Its Most Important Development.

Washington, March 20.—President Wilson will confer frequently with members of the house and senate in the president's room at the Capitol during the extra session of congress. This was announced at the White House.

The president intends to make himself as accessible as possible to members of congress on those days when tariff legislation will have reached its most important development. He found, while governor of New Jersey, that legislation was often expedited by his close communication with the New Jersey legislature. He made it a practice to be in his own office whenever the legislature was in session, day or night, and gave precedence in his engagements to the legislators.

The president will go to the Capitol, it was said at the White House, in a spirit of friendly co-operation, there to consult with Democrats and Republicans alike on the progress of legislation. He believes, however, that he should go to the Capitol as party leader. He has always said that the president of the United States was the elected leader of his party and that he particularly was charged by the people with the carrying out of party pledges. Mr. Wilson believes the tariff bill should be treated as a party measure.

The announcement that the finance committee of the senate and the ways and means committee of the house will work on the tariff bill in joint conference, consulting the president often, is in line with his idea that the Democratic leaders in congress should draft a tariff bill which should stand or fall on its merits, both in congress and before the country. He believes in enforcing party discipline and after the leaders have approved the tariff bill he will make every effort to procure its passage in both houses without material alteration.

BEFORE BILLS REACH HOUSE

Democrats Expect to Be in Accord
on the Tariff.

Washington, March 20.—The house, the senate and the president came together informally, for the first time, on the "preliminaries" of tariff revision. A short conference between the president and Senator Simmons of the senate finance committee, followed by a longer conference between a subcommittee of the house ways and means committee, laid the groundwork for a series of three cornered conferences that are to follow before the tariff revision bills are presented to the house in April.

As a result of the discussions it was said by Mr. Underwood and Senator Simmons that the two houses of congress practically will be agreed upon the details of tariff revision before the bills reach the house and that the opinions and desires of President Wilson also will have been fully considered.

FLOOD OF BILLS IN HOUSE

Last Day for Introduction Results in Deluge.

St. Paul, March 20.—One hundred and eight bills were introduced in the house, the last day bills may be introduced except by a two-thirds vote. Bills pertaining to every subject, from a proposed constitutional convention to referendums on supreme court decisions, poured into the house hopper. The house bills now total 1,153. The senate passed the bill by the subcommittee of the finance committee repealing all laws providing for standing appropriations. This is one of the reforms advocated by the finance committee in a hope of cutting out waste in state departments. With standing appropriations abolished each department must come each session to the legislature and explain just what it wants to do with the money it asks for.

MAY HANDLE CENSUS.

Washington, March 20.—It became known that W. J. Harris, chairman of the Democratic senate committee of Georgia, probably would be chosen director of the census. It also was stated authoritatively at the White House that the nomination of Charles P. Neill to be commissioner of labor statistics, which failed of confirmation at the special session of the senate, would be sent to the senate again when congress convenes on April 7.

GRAHAME-WHITE PLANS BIG AIR FLEET PROJECT.

Aviator Lays Scheme For Mercantile and Mail Carrying Dirigibles.

A comprehensive scheme for dealing with the entire subject of an aerial fleet and its necessary appendages has been laid before the English government by Claude Grahame-White. The scheme includes the establishment of a mercantile air fleet subsidized by the government, airship stations in every large city and around the coast and schools for air pilots all over the United Kingdom.

It is understood that a powerful group of financiers is ready to finance any scheme having government support for building dirigible airships simultaneously in various parts of England. Mr. Grahame-White in an interview said:

"It is my aim to found a mercantile air fleet on the same basis as the Cunard line. We could carry mails for the government, and the airships could be used for general purposes in times of peace. Our proposal is cut and dried. We are prepared to do the work provided we have government assurance. We are prepared to foster this immense industry with private capital and to take all the responsibility. We are ready to secure the finest skilled mechanics from all parts of Europe and to put a mercantile air fleet on a paying basis."

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight, will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.—Adv. t

Of Work of Other Departments is Business of Mayor Under St. Paul's New Charter

MAYOR HAS LITTLE PATRONAGE

Members of Council Assigned by Mayor as Administrative Heads of Various Departments

J. W. Bennett, engaged by St. Paul to put into effect its new commission form of government, in this article describes the duties of the mayor under the new charter taking effect April 1.

Co-ordination and supervision of the work of other departments is the business of the mayor under the new St. Paul charter. He is not given much patronage. The only important officer appointed is the purchasing agent.

Members of the council are assigned by the mayor as administrative heads of the various departments. He has six men to fit to six places, and may so assign them as to get the best results. Since he is made responsible for co-ordination of the administrative work, and is given sufficient authority to have it co-ordinated, it goes without saying that for his own protection he is likely to assign the men so as to get the best results. Like the builder, working with given materials, he is likely to produce the best possible building. As a sane man he will do so if he values his reputation.

A reassignment of the administrative heads may be made on a given day six months after they are inaugurated. This opportunity is given the mayor so that he may correct errors of judgment made in the first assignment. This is the only opportunity he has to make the change. He is limited so that there may be a sense of security on the part of the department heads.

The mayor presides at all meetings of the council, so that he is in full touch with the legislative business of the city. Something more than legislative business in its strict sense is transacted by the council at the daily meetings. By resolution the important business supervised by the council is acted upon. This will keep the mayor in complete touch with the administrative side. As chief administrative officer he is in the best sort of position to keep the administrative machinery running to the best advantage. He is not burdened by the administrative details of a department.

Power is given the mayor to bring charges against any elective officer, and the council must, if the mayor presses it, bring the officer to trial. It is the duty of the mayor to call the attention of a department head to any shortcomings of a subordinate, and to suggest a course of action. If the department head does not act, the mayor may act, even removing the appointive officer.

Since the mayor must put himself on record as to the reasons for removing the offending appointee, and since he has no power to name a successor, this power of the mayor is not likely to be abused.

The mayor is a member of the sinking fund committee, so that he has a voice in investments of city funds. He has the appointment of the joint committee which has charge of the courthouse and city hall building, and takes a hand in the election of the county assessor.

Power is given the mayor to investigate departments upon his own initiative. He is required to advise the council as to needed legislation. In fact the mayor becomes a sort of general manager, looking after the interests of the city as a whole, seeing that other officers do their duty, seeing that the administration is kept going. He has means of knowing all that is going on, and has a ready weapon in public opinion if there are any laggards in the administration. By hampering any department, he merely hampers his administration and tends to discredit himself. He will get a good share of the credit

Brainerd Mining Man, Nephew of P. W. Donovan, Tells of Exciting Venezuelan Trip

SHOT AN INDIAN ASSAILANT

Letter Dated El Guayabo, Venezuela Said Bjorge and Taylor were Feeling Well

In a letter dated El Guayabo, Venezuela, February 26, William Leslie Taylor writes his uncle, P. W. Donovan of this city.

"Received mail yesterday, in it mother's letter in which she said she feared on account of the Indians, now that we were getting into the foothills.

"Monday morning the guide, one man, Guy Bjorge and I left camp as usual at 7:30 and started on a trail west on a two day trip to the river Tarra. The men had been working on a trail and had it cut about 4 kilometers from camp. When they got to the end of it they left our packs containing blankets, grub, etc., and began cutting ahead.

"Guy and I worked along behind them looking for outcrops. I got to the packs first as Guy was feeling sort of under the weather. I built a fire and started down a dry canyon looking for water.

"I had gone about 200 yards when I saw ahead of me a large heap of monkeys on the ground, some dead, and what first attracted my attention was one not quite dead, waving an arm in the air.

"Naturally I began to take notice for monkeys do not die without some good cause, and about this time I saw ahead of me five Indians at a water hole in the canyon. They were about 60 feet away and saw me before I had a chance to hide, and immediately began shooting at me; but they had only bows and arrows so I had a bit of advantage and made good use of my heels. However they soon got closer than was comfortable and when an arrow lifted my hat, I began using my Colt. I shot the nearest one—about 15 feet away, and the others stopped long enough—don't know whether I had hit them or not—to enable me to get to the packs where I had left the Winchester.

"I began yelling for Guy and for Adolph and Manuel who were cutting the trail ahead unarmed, as I was afraid the rest of the band might get them. When the first Indians saw our fire and heard the yelling, they evidently thought there were a number of men in the vicinity and being much afraid of guns, especially repeaters, they stopped.

"Needless to say we didn't waste any time getting to camp where we grabbed our maps, notes, etc., and beat it for town. We had to sleep (?) in the woods Monday night and arrived here February 25 at 10:30, safe and sound. I am going to Encuentros to send cablegrams today, but no more Indian country for either of us. We are both well and thankful that we escaped so well.

"Tomorrow an armed party will go in to get the rest of our stuff, if the Indians have not already gotten it. Will write full particulars as soon as I hear from New York.

POLITICAL POT STARTS TO BOIL

Socialists Hold Their Referendum Vote on Wednesday Evening—Rumors on Results

R. A. HENNING MAY BE MAYOR

Republicans had Primaries for Election of Delegates to City Convention Last Night

Owing to the fact that so many candidates propose to run independently and are circulating petitions, the republicans held primaries in but two wards, the first and third, at least these are the only wards which can be located at this time. The city convention is scheduled for this evening.

The delegates to the convention as nominated in the first ward were Fred Drexler, C. O. Hagberg and G. H. Gardner.

L. M. Depue, it is said, is an independent candidate for mayor.

C. A. Lagerquist, present alderman from the first ward, has filed with the city clerk his petition. Anton Mahlum, candidate for alderman of the First ward, has also filed his petition.

The socialists will hold their caucus this evening and city convention on Friday evening. The referendum vote was taken last night and nothing can be authoritatively announced. What is given here is mere rumor to the effect that the following were nominated:

Mayor—Alderman R. A. Henning. Aldermen, first ward, William Schilb. 2nd ward, Herman Weideman. 3rd ward, N. W. Betzold and Ernest Haake. 4th ward, Alderman A. L. Anderson and Frank Gallepe. 5th ward, John Gabiou and J. S. Robertson.

Assessor—Alderman N. W. Olson. Treasurer—Frank E. Little.

The members nominated for school board could not be ascertained. It is believed that the party will have no one on the ticket for municipal judge.

The Cause of Rheumatism

Stomach trouble, lazy liver and deranged kidneys are the cause of rheumatism. Get your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in healthy condition by taking Electric Bitters, and you will not be troubled with the pains of rheumatism. Charles B. Allen, a school principal, of Sylvania, Ga., who suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys, writes: "All remedies failed until I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Maybe your rheumatism pains come from stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Electric Bitters will give you prompt relief, 50c and $1.00. Recommended by H. P. Dunn—Adv. tts

Tuneful Names of States.

There is no part of the world where nomenclature is so rich, poetical, humorous and picturesque as the United States. * * * The names of the states and territories themselves form a chorus of sweet and most romantic vocabularies—Delaware, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Dakota, Iowa, Wyoming, Minnesota and the Carolinas. There are few poems with a nobler music for the ear, a songful, tuneless land, and if the new Homer shall arise from the western continent his verses will be enriched, his pages sing spontaneously with the names of states and cities that would strike the fancy in a business circular.—London Chronicle.

IMPORTANT BILL PASSES

Amending Anti-Pass Law, Benefiting Railway and Shop Men Holding Municipal Office

Both houses of the legislature have recently passed the amendment to the anti-pass law as drawn up by Jay Henry Long for the committee of local machinists and others, allowing free pass privileges to railway and shop men who may hold municipal or school offices.

The amendment thus enables many Brainerd men to accept office who before did not wish to surrender their pass privileges in return for the honor of holding a city office like alderman or member of the school board.

COMMERCIAL CLUB STARTS CAMPAIGN

Deerwood Club Champions Cause of Waterworks and Sewers in Town and States Reasons

PRINTERS INK USED LIBERALLY

Hon. D. M. Neill, President Minnesota Federation Commercial Clubs Speaks March 25

Deerwood, Minn., March 20—"Waterworks and sewers for Deerwood!" is the slogan of the Deerwood Commercial club, which has started a campaign to have these improvements inaugurated and urges all citizens to vote for them at the special election to be held on Wednesday, March 26.

As stated in the preamble of the call to the citizens, the Commercial club voices this appeal: "We summon all men and women, all good, unselfish citizens interested in the village of Deerwood to stand by us in this movement. Make Deerwood the best town on the range. All voters should vote for waterworks and sewers."

Tuesday evening, March 25, Hon. D. M. Neill of Red Wing, president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs will address the citizens at Hilyar's hall. Mr. Neill will speak on "Community Development" and all are invited to hear him.

President of the Commercial Club R. Archibald says: "The existence and prosperity of any city depends upon the business that is done in the same. The more business the more people, the more people the greater the city."

"Now we know from the experience of other villages and cities that conditions are liable to arise, when with a high wind in the day time, a fire starts to windward of the main part of the town and for the want of a hydrant and a hose or supply of water, half of the place and sometimes more goes up in smoke. If such a thing should happen in Deerwood, the business men would not rebuild here and if they built again it would probably be in Oreland or Crosby, where waterworks are or there is a prospect for them and we could not blame them.

"Are we a progressive community? We will never be up-to-date until we have both sewers and waterworks. If we can't have both at once let us at least have water. There is plenty of it in the world and it is a good thing and absolutely necessary. Paying interest on bonds is no such a bugbear as it might look to a man up a tree. I am paying at present what I consider a heavy tax, but am willing to pay a little more for the sake of having something doing."

Charles G. Osterlund, secretary of the Commercial club says: "A town is no bigger or better than its people. Look at the individuals, study them and you will know if there is anything the matter. When any public improvement is mentioned, do they consider it from a selfish standpoint or do they take a broad view of it?"

The man living in a community under the protection of its laws, accepting the privileges in a business and social way extended to him within its borders, and who lives for himself alone, whose principle in life is to take all and give little, who is blinded by the personal pronoun "I" and is so wrapped up in his own carcass that he will not lend himself to any public movement unless "I am benefited"—such a man is not a good citizen and is not fulfilling his obligation as a citizen. Such a man is a curse to a community and if there are many such men living in a town there is something the matter with that town. Citizens should take civic pride in this town; the secret of a town's success is the co-operation of its citizens—Everybody for the common good—"All for one and one for all."

Very often this principle is neglected and in its place grows the selfish motive. One man will not take a progressive step for fear it will help his neighbor a little more than it does himself. Another is going to vote against waterworks because "he has a well and that is good enough for him;" he "doesn't need waterworks;" he "don't care about the rest of the town, he is not 'his brother's keeper.'" Another says "those fellows down town can't fool me." Still another, "I am 62 years old and have got along fine without these things and don't want them now." "I don't see what good it's going to do me." If the people of our town talk like that, there is indeed something the matter with the town. It is a hard matter to convince such men

Suppose Easter Is a Very Nice Day You Would then Want A Macpherson & Langford Suit

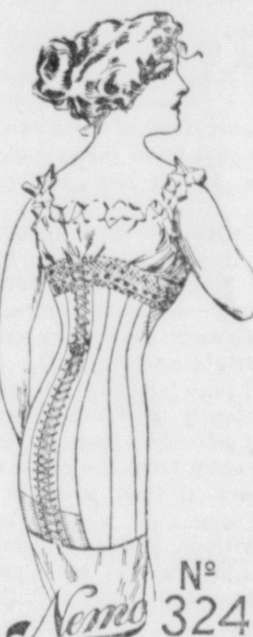

March has been unusually cold but warmer days are sure to come. The sunshine today is indicative of what we may expect soon. Is it not the part of wisdom to select a suit now and have the full benefit of it when the nice days do come?

The suit will cost you no more now and you have the choice of the largest assortment we shall have.

Of course you will consider a Macpherson and Langford suit if you ever have had one and if not you should see the new ones if you want to see the prettiest suits obtainable.

The pictures show the new "Lasticurve-Back"—broad gores of elastic which extend far below the back steels and are laced clear down to the end.

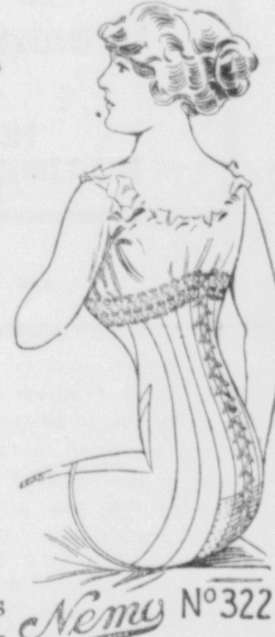

The gores are of the new Lastikops Cloth, the latest Nemo elastic fabric, which is guaranteed to retain all of its original elasticity.

When you sit down, the corset-skirt spreads freely—you're comfortable. Two models:

No. 324—medium bust—

with an argument because they have no argument themselves and they will not listen to one.

The campaign for community development which the Deerwood Commercial club has started rises above and is established on a higher plane than all considerations that naturally are involved in local rivalries. Its principle is embodied in the precept, "Man lives not for himself alone."

The town's welfare is the whole town's business. Therefore let us

HOW BIG DAM WAS BUILT IN JUNGLES

Four American Engineers on Project.

USE 300 NATIVE LABORERS

Odd Experiences Met in Construction
Work Through Wild Country—Colombians Ape Clothes and Actions of Newcomers—Odd Labor Troubles
Aries—Many Alligators Found.

Brooklyn, New York, looks good to four engineers who recently returned from the Colombian jungle, where they spent two years among a thousand laborers of all nations building a big concrete dam and power house in connection with a project to develop the mining wealth of the region. S. H. Gifford told the story of their experiences:

"Labor troubles? You don't know what they are until you tackle a job, as we did, of building a dam across San Juan creek, 375 miles from the Atlantic coast.

"There were fifty Americans on the job, and we put up a dam 85 feet high, 290 feet across the crest and containing 18,000 cubic feet of concrete. A similar job would have taken one year in the States, but it took two down there.

"To begin with, we had about 300 natives, but it was impossible to do anything with them. They never had seen a piece of machinery before, and every time we swung a derrick around they'd take fright and run half a mile, and it would take 'em half an hour to recover sufficiently to return to work.

"We finally educated them by bringing down laborers from the canal zone, who had been trained in American methods. These men we put in responsible positions, and as the natives were good imitators they soon 'caught on' to the American way, and things began to hum.

Natives Great Imitators.
"The natives carried their passion for imitation further, often with humorous results. For example, at first they wore very few clothes. After we had imported the men from the canal, all of them reasonably well clad and wearing shoes, every native on the job took to watching them closely. They soon found out that the invaders were getting more money, and they figured out a connection between wages and clothes.

"At once it became the ambition of every native to own a pair of shoes, and all of them promptly bought, traded for or stole a pair. Ostentatiously they would wear the shoes out to work so that their American bosses could see them, but when they arrived on the job they would take them off. They couldn't stand the pinch of civilization.

"Those natives were finished performers in the drinking line. They would drink anything they could get their hands on and would spend almost every cent of their pay envelope to get the stuff. Their favorite beverage was 'aguardiente,' which is mostly alcohol flavored with anise.

"And this particular brand of 'booze' had a very interesting effect on them, though an inconvenient one for a laborer's camp. As soon as they had had three drinks they would start out at once in search of those whom they disliked. They all carried machetes or revolvers, and I never knew a pay day to pass but what three or four of them were killed.

Big Alligators.
"One of the sights that impresses an American in penetrating into the interior of Colombia is the populous colony of alligators on the banks of the Magdalena river. They literally cover the sandbars. I counted 200 on one bar alone. Here and there along the river the natives have built little half moon shaped stockades into the water, made by driving stakes into the sand, where their women can come down to fetch water and bathe safely.

"It's so commonplace for people to be eaten up by alligators that no one thinks anything about it.

"There in the heart of Colombia, 375 miles from the Atlantic, is an immense area that is a wonderfully rich mining proposition. But it is not a poor man's country; it will take a lot of capital. Development must be on an immense scale. It is low grade placer mining, but the vast area of gold bearing 'dirt' will make it a paying proposition. For 300 years the district has been mined by the Spaniards by hand.

"The dam and power house which we built was in connection with the first large modern dredge in Colombia for gold dredging purposes.

"Colombia needs to reform some of her laws. She wants to open her country to foreigners more. The freight rates on the steamers up the Magdalena river are exorbitant, and, in addition, the Colombians levy a tax of $4 a ton for dredging the river—which is never dredged. Every piece of our stuff—derricks, cable ways, donkey engines and electrical equipment—was brought from the United States."

Delicately Put.
Joel Chandler Harris was at his desk one night when an old time reporter looked over and said:

"Joe, how do you spell 'graphic,' with one 'f' or two?"

"Well," said the kindly Uncle Remus, who was too gentle to hurt even a common adjective, "if you are going to use any, Bill, I guess you might as well go the limit."

Garment Workers Strike Settled.
Rochester, N. Y., March 20.—The strike of local garment workers, inaugurated in January, was settled by about a two-thirds vote of those who walked out, after conferences between the employers, workers and representatives of the state department of labor.

Maps as Banknotes.
I knew of a curious instance of the fertility of the East Indian native brain. A boy had attended school and been instructed to some extent in geography. Struck evidently by the similarity of a colored map to the banknotes widely circulated in Rhodesia, he cut out a portion of the former and obtained from a less sophisticated neighbor the sum of £1 in gold, explaining that he required the money in exchange for his "note." His obliging victim, thinking perhaps that the "note" seemed hardly up to sample, endeavored to re-exchange it with European. The result was, of course, disastrous to the perpetrator of the fraud.—Empire Review.

Brains.
"Using cubic centimeters as units," says Sir Ray Lancaster, "we find that a good average European human brain is of the bulk of 1,500 units. The gorilla has a slightly larger brain than the chimpanzee or the orang. One of good medium bulk measures 500 units or a third of that of the well developed European."

BEST FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR AN ITCHING SCALP--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Danderine Destroys Dandruff and Stops Falling Hair at Once—Grows Hair, We Prove it

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots flail, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.
